STRACTIVE PROGRAMME FOR AQUEDUCT THIS WEEK.

Actual Proof of Wrongdoing on the Turi Is Lacking. Though the Stewards Are Delving for Facts Advance Guard's Record This Year Brighton Stakes

With the close of the Westchester meeting he racegoing public considers the real season a the turf in this State at an end, for the ason that in times past the rich owners have ve sent their horses away to winter Morris Park But during the next two weeks the Queens County Jockey Club's track Aqueduct there will be a higher class of emy than ever before, partially because of the increase in the value of stakes and purses and also because the Aqueduct track. ith its many improvements in the way of new accommodations for the public, has grown so much in popular favor that it is o longer a hardship to run a horse there. The stakes to be run at this meeting are especially attractive, both in point of value and conditions. No purse will be less than $700 in value, while the stakes and handicaps Ill average $1,000 each in added money. Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth for all ages, with a good lot of entries. To-morrow the Nassau Stakes for three-year-olds at a mile and 70 yards will be run, the best of he eligibles being Oom Paul, Andy Wil-iams, Rossignol, Remorse, Hindred, G. Whittier and the champion Hermis. The reedmore Stakes for two-year-olds at five ad a half furlongs will be the magnet on dnesday. Plater, who established a new world's record for this distance at Morris Park last week, will probably go to the post. gether with such youngsters as Rosetint. Lady Albertraft, Skilful, Minotaur, Counter-pose, Boutonnière, W. R. Condon, Miladi Love, Mackey Dwyer, Cinquevalli, Sparkle Esher, Blue Peter and others. The Edgemere Stakes for all ages, weight for age, one mile and a furlong, to be run on Thursmay bring together Hermis and Advance Guard, both of whom are eligible. A race between these turf stars just now would serve as one of the best attractions the year and would create unbounded enthusiasm, as both horses are the most popular in the East. Should they go to the post they might have for company St. Finnan, tamping Ground, Hurstbourne, Royal, Dr. Eddle and Potente.

On Friday the Lynbrook Handicap for two-year-olds at six furlongs is carded with Plater, Lady Albercraft, Forward, Right and True, Rosetint, Courtmaid, Toscan, Orloff Skilful, Minotaur, Boutonnière, Examiner, Miladi Love, Mackey Dwyer, Nevermore, Joe Cobb. Red Knight, Muzio and Eva Russell among the probable starters. The Babylon tandicap for all ages at seven furlongs will be decided on Saturday with a good field to be drawn from the following: St. Finnan, nak, Bellario, Skilful, Daly, Royal, Moor, Remorse, Relle of Lexington, Mackey Dwyer, Nevermore, Contend, Red Knight, Ordnung Maude Gonne, Sadduce, Carbunde, Sparkle Esher and Oom Paul. The Aqueduct track by the way, was never faster. Supt John Reilly has been working at it for some time past until he has got things in shape for a series of track record-breaking performances Last week it was a common thing for a horse stable room in view of the interease in the number of owners who have decided to remain over until the coming meeting ends.

Nobody believes for an instant that Smith his been ruled off without having evidence of some soft brought against him. Such being the case, rucing men naturally believe that other persons are involved in the swandal and that if certain things can be proved there will be an explosion shortly. Some time ago two lockeys were set down for constant disolated ence at the post," but with the gossing soing the rounds hist now many persons have an idea that it was more than disobedience at the post," but with the gossing an idea that it was more than disobedience at the normal standard out performance—and they have been numerous are under investigation, together with the rapidly increasing habit of doping horses. In one race last week in which there are fifteen horses, trainers who looked things each in the paddock said that at least six of them had the dope and pointed to the fact that the six mentioned went out upon the task in a reeking perspiration when the others were as dry as chips.

This doping business seems to have been beingth here from the West, where several ranners have displayed expertness in the art administering drugs until they have come to be regarded as scientists. It is understood that after Advance Guard you the Woodia we Vase last Saturday, James It keene was so pleased with the "fron horse's" setformance that he asked Alexander Shields to put a price on the son of Great Tom that he might send him to England torace in his colors Shields refused to name any figure, it is said A year are he declined an ofter of $15.000 from A Loob Worth as a vearing, but he never than in the Senator's name or colors. Carruthers A Shields finally claimed him out of a selling race, when he was in his two-year-old year, for $1.300. Advance Guard has started by thirty-one races on New York tracks this season. He has won twelve of them, run second seven times, third four times and has been unplaced eight times. He is rightfully delived here the great Gold Heels in training. The showing of Eugenia Burch in the White Plains Handicap, when she took up top weight and finished nowhere, was explained by Stater Pettingill vesterday, who said the filly propped herself just after the barrier went up and lost so much ground that she never had a chance. The attention of horsemen is called to the fact that a number of valuable stakes offered by the Brighton Beach Racing Association will close on Saturday of this week. The vents are the $10,000 Brighton Junior Stakes, the $5,000 Neptune Stakes and the $5,000 Venus Stakes, all for two-year-olds and to be run in 1003; and the $10,000 Brighton Derby, the $5,000 Brighton Oaks, at lor three-year-olds and to be run in 1001. WHITNEY'S HORSE FAVORITE. Ballantrae, on the Strength of a Great Trial, Is the Choice for Historic Cambridgeshire.

The Cambridgeshire, one of the historic events of the English turf, will be run at the Newmarket Houghton meeting on Wednes-day. The race this year will have an especial interest for Americans, not only because several horses owned by American turfmer are nominated, but because William C. Whitney's three-year-old filly Ballantrae is the favorite in the betting. In a trial over New-market Heath on Saturday Ballantrae beat Mr. Whitney's Spectrum a head and Spec-trum beat Capt. Loder's Game Chick easily The well-known English jockey, Watt-, had the mount on Ballantrae, while the American Jockey, "Skeets" Martin, rode Spectrum. On the result of the trial becoming known Ballantrae at once became the favorite. Besides Ballantrae, Mr. Whitney has two other nominated in the race, Spectrum and Volodyovski, the winner of last year's Derby, Volodyovski, the winner of last year's Derby,

The Keenes have three entries, Cap and Bells, winner of last year's Oaks; Conroy, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap of 1901 and the only three-year-old that ever won that race, and a three-year-old of the name of Candor
The first two are nominated in the name of Foxhall P. Reene, while Candor has been nominated by James R. Keene. The latter colt is not known on this side of the ocean.
All of the Keene nominations for the Cambridgeshire were bred by them at their Castleton Farm, near Lexington, Ky. If Conroy is anything like the horse he was when he won the Brooklyn Handicap he ought to give a good account of himself in the Cambridgeshire. He, as well as Ballantrae, however, will have to meet in this race some of the best horses in England. Among the other probable starters are the following:
The three-year-old fill Sceptre, counted the best three-year-old in England and winner of the Oaks. St. Leger, 1000 guineas, and 2,000 guineas; Rising Glass, another threeyear-old winner of Jockey Club stakes and second in the Derby and in the St. Leger;
Epsom Lad, winner of the Princess of Wales
Stakes, the Eclipse Stakes and the Kempton Park Plate; Rambling Katie, recently purchased by Mr. Whitney, and Frank Gardner's American-bred coit Omaha II. The latter is by Watercress out of Orange Leaf.
The favorite for the race, Ballantrae, is a filly by Aryshire—Abeyance, who was purchased by Mr. Whitney in England. She has shown steady improvement all this year and ran fourth to Sceptre in the Oaks. She will carry 97 pounds in the Cambridgeshire and will be ridden by a stable boy of whose horsemanship John Hungrins, Mr. Whitney's trainer in England, thinks much. If Ballantrae should win this classic event, it will be Mr. Whitney's second Cambridgeshire how the race last year with Watershed, which he bought as a yearling from Mr.
Haggin. The only other American horse to win the Cambridgeshire was James R. Keene's Foxhall in 1881. The Keenes have three entries, Cap and Bells

LEADING WINNERS IN RACING. F. C. McLewee & Co. Lead With Help of Major Daingerfield and Gold Heels.

Now that the meeting at Morris Park has come to a close a list of winning owners for the season to date is in order. At the head of the list will be seen the name of F. C. McLewee & Co., who have made a remark-able record this season with the three-yearold Major Daingerfield and the four-year-old Gold Heels. Major Daingerfield ran in seven races, winning the Brooklyn Derby, Tidal Stakes, Realization Stakes and Annual Cham-

PAR CRESCEUS.

The Champion Not Going Abroad--No

More Heat Racing at Memphis. MEMPHIS, Oct. 26.—The campaign of Cree ceus will not extend to foreign countries this year. George Ketcham to-night said he had abandoned the proposed trip through England, France and Russia and also had cancelled the champion trotter's trip to Havana. Cresceus will try to beat the record of 2.021, here again next Tuesday, after which he is scheduled for a barastorning trip through the South, Ketcham has outlined a circuit on the ice tracks of the North, and the king of trotters will be called on for a dozen miles over courses in Canada and the Northern States. The Canadian campaign will start at Ottawa on Feb. 9.

Secretary Howe of the local association caused a sensation to-day by announcing to all owners that at future meetings to be given by the Memphis Trotting Association the system of heat racing would be discontinued. abandoned the proposed trip through England.

Sunday Baseball Despite Protests. Baseball was played in Bayonne resterday despite the crusade of the clergymen and society people, who have applied to the Court of Chancery for an injunction preventing Sunday baseball. Two games were played without interference. In the first the West Sides and Bay Sides played nine innings to a draw, the second resulting in a victory for the Stars over the Pearsalls. THE FOOTBALL WORLD.

POINTS BROUGHT OUT IN PRINCE-TON-COLUMBIA GAME.

hance for New Yorkers to Benefit by Baptism of Defeat What Harvard and Vale Are Doing An Expert's Opinion of the Two Progress of Other Teams.

Signs of coming championship speed were be seen in the work of two or three of the big elevens last week, both in the practice and the games of Saturday and the followers of the game can devote the next month to reckoning on which team will develop this at present somewhat latent quality the most before the deciding conflicts. Speaking of indications of strength, strength not yet realized, one could not help getting the impression in the Princeton-Columbia game that the Columbia team was capable of better football than it played against the Tigers. The generalship was poor, the team was "up in the air" part of the time and the situation toward the last began to look-like a rout. Yet there were times when Columbia was hard pressed that she fought back valiantly and showed that she had the physical and mental capabilities to play an evener and stronger game than she did. There is no reason for the New Yorkers to feel downcast. They have been through their baptism of defeat and though the schedule is a hard one from now on it presents an opportunity for a rally and good fluish, which the men have Columbia's inability to get through the Princeton interference and break up end runs, was a noticeable cause of the ball being close to her goal line so frequently. This Princeton interference was quickly formed and pretty speedy. They are pretty good at that sort of thing at Princeton. It was one of those swift dashes around the end that helped the Tigers beat Yale in 1899. Reiter circled the end and before Hale threw him he was within easy striking distance of a touchdown. Columbia's attack was not as consistently maintained as Princeton's last Saturday by a long shot. The line and the backs did not work together well and there was not the help extended to the runner that Princeton displayed. Once in a while the whole Columbia team went to the aid of the runner and then the Princeton line had to give way. It was just such a streak of power as this that showed that better things are possible with a less tendency toward stage fright Columbia, too, needs to make her tackling surer and harder and Princeton's work along that line was not the best in the world on Saturday. The Columbia tacklers often failed to gauge their distance correctly and oftener the men tackled fell forward instead of being put back. The Princeton ends were fast on kicks, but by no means cocksure on the defence, this pertaining more to their being put out of the play than to missed tackles. They took a firm grip once they got hold, but all the same more end running would have been beneficial to and if there is a prettier punter in the col-leges, he must be a rare gem. He punted from much further back of the line than Smith of Columbia. Whatever formations the Tigers may have in view for Yale they tricate moves, and they doubtless have something up their sleeve. Most unfortunate for Princeton were the injuries to Burke, the quarter back, and Kafer, the full back. Kafer was not used a great deal on Saturday, but he hit the line like a bullet several times. running low and hard, and of the two his place may be the harder to fill. There is the consolation of having a number of others who are good, but Kafer, Burke and Foulke are a shade better than any of the others S. McClave and Hart are pretty close up There was so much end running by Princeton on Saturday that it was not easy to get an idea of what Princeton could do in line ham mering. In this respect Princeton's attack mering. In this respect Princeton's attack was not as hard or as well sustained as Harvard's against West Point. The Princeton centre trio had no cinch with their Columbia opposites. One thing, however, may be seen, Princeton will have a stronger team than she has had since 1899.

Harvard came out of the Brown game encouraged, notwithstanding the closeness of the score. It was a hard fought game in which the Cambridge men played much good football and that is something. Comparisons in progress are frequent between this and last year's Harvard teams as a source of hope for this year, but one difference is that the make-up of the eleven was nearer to being settled a year ago than now. Grayto-day is almost as good as Gerdon Brown's team was at this stage of its development, says an expert.

Capt Barry of the Brown University team writes as follows in the Boston Herald:

In forming an estimate of the relative strength of the Harvard and Yale teams as shown in the games against Brown. I think that Harvard is much stronger in the back field. Graydon hurdled in fine style, and the whole Crimson back field moved well together, except on one or two occasions, when the interference got balled up. Harvard she keep the hind the line, with a fast set of backs, is a very important point.

"The Harvard ends did not appear to be in very good shape to-day, but they are undoubtedly much stronger than Harvard, and as at eam Harvard does not begin to work together with anything like the spirit that Yale has shown this season. The Harvard men just give one push and let it go at that, instead of pulling and hauling along for every inch, thereby securing greater distance on rushes.

The Harvard line is near did not have the jump to them that Yale has, and it will require a whole lot of hard coaching to bring the Harvard men up to Yale's standard of quickness. The chief trouble seems to be that the Harvard line men do not move together.

Cornell is having an uneven season. First week tears an antagonist to pieces. It is a question whether this is due to a schedule which trovides opponents of widely different strength for successive games, or whether there was a big improvement. Two weeks ago a majority of football followers would have made cornell a favorite over Princeton, but at present the reverse is the case. I would not be surprised to see Princeton beat Cornell almost as nuch as she beat Columbia; nor, on the other hand, would I be surprised to see Cornell win a close game, is the way one Cornell man puts it. Cornell has taken a big, strong forward, Hunt, and placed him behind the line, and the change, so far as the one-sided victory over Oberlin indicates. was beneficial it is rather refreshing to see Pennsylvania win a burd game under discouraging circumstances, as she did against Bucknell last Saturday.

West Point is maintaining her reputation as a first class football team and rev Saturday.

West Point is maintaining her reputation as a first-class football team, and next Saturday's game between Yale and West Point promises one of the sharpest struggles of the season. The Cadets will face Yale with the experience derived from the Harvard game and with better team work and probably a stronger array individually than when Harvard was played. Compared to West Point, Annapolis is having a very trying time of it, but much the same state of affairs existed last year. Columbia and Princeton Drop Protests. PRINCETON., Oct. 26.—The report that Princeton, before the game with Columbia yesterday, protested two of the Blue and White players and that Columbia retaliated by protesting Davis, the Tigers' captain, is not true. It is a fact, though, that Princeton not true. It is a fact, though, that Princeton tried to get evidence showing that Erb, the Columbia quarter back, had played professional ball in the West, and that Thorpe, the tackle, was ineligible on account of some technicality connected with his career in an athletic club. The Tiger management was not able to get proof in either case and the matter was dropped. Columbia, on the other hand, revived the charge about Davis having played a game of baseball several years ago with the Atlantic City club. The New Yorkers could not get any evidence to support the charge of professionalism, and they also called off all objections. There is no doubt that Burke and Kafer will be out of the game for the rest of the season. Each had his collarbone broken in yesterda'ys game. Pearson, captain of the baseball team, who played half back last season, has consented to come out to-morrow, and an effort will be made to break him in at quarter back before the tornell game. R. McClaye will take Kafer's place at full back. With the exception of Burke and Kafer, the team came out of the struggle in good shape.

OUR ONE-HORSE-WIRE SATURDAY GAVE Advance Guard, 4 to 5, Won.

Capital $50,006. GRAHAM RICE, Pres. 'PHONE, 1827 FRANKLIN.

130-131 STEWART BLDG., 280 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Not in the history of the American race track did the bookmakers win more money from the general public than they did Saturday. It was a day of "good things" that went wrong. But, as is usual on these days, our conservative one-horse wire went right. It landed at 4 to 5, a short price, and yet a big one, considering that the running of the race proved that the only way Advance Guard could lose was to fall down. It was no race at all. It was a procession.

The Morris Park meeting just closed was a Waterloo for the talent as well as the general public, and while we suffered to an extent from the continued reversals our record stands for itself, and shows that in the face of it all our clients profited. We print below a complete list of all the horses given in the one-horse wire during the past fortnight of the Westchester meeting, showing the result of a $20 flat bet on all the horses sent out:—

The prospects for the Aqueduct meeting which begins to-day are positively brilliant. Scan the entries and you will see scores of names of horses which have not raced in months. Nine out of ten of these have been trained at Gravesend, where we have had four track sharps located ever since the Fall Gravesend meeting closed. They have them all lined up, and some of the prices we will get against our "Specials" this meeting will be great. We are positive we will more than duplicate our Saratoga record, which showed a winning of over $3,000 on a $20 daily play. At Aqueduct last Spring our percentage of winners was 26 per cent, more than at Westchester this fall. Aqueduct, like Saratoga, is our most lucrative territory.

For a systematic plan to derive a steady income from the races with a small capital, and with possibilities of loss minimized to almost nothing, our one horse wire commends liself to you as the best thing of its kind ever spring in the history of the turf.

The vast majority of men who lose money playing the races play every race. Our one horse per-day wire simmers your play down to one horse each day. That horse represents what, in the standpoint of both odds and sureness of winning. It is also backed up by inside stable information at oo owners, and trainers, intentions, gathered through our various connections and interests. Every channel which we control brings grist to our one horse wire mill, and IT GETS THE MONEY. We offer it as the solution of the problem of how to beat the races. It commands your attention. Examine it. Chew on it. You can't beat it.

Our fee for this wire is $10.00, and by the conditions of it we practically guarantee to make you win $4000 for every $10.00 you pay us. On receipt of your fee we telegraph you the one horse of the day. If a $20.00 flat bet wins $50.00, and by the conditions of it we practically guarantee to make you win $400, but because we cannot alford to send our information to thousands of people, as a rule unknown to us, without

If you cannot place your own money write us for list of members of the Metropolitan Turf Association, who will handle accounts of $100 and upward and place $20 daily for you at the track on each of the guaranteed horses for 5 per cent, of the net weekly earnings. Accounts subject to close at one hour's notice. Settle-

The one horse wire service will be continued without a break through the Fall and Winter.

At the close of the Eastern racing season at Washington late in November our corps of experts go to New Orleans, where the one borse wire will be continued for 100 racing days, beginning Nov. 27.

Bowling Notes.

Twenty three members of the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn competed in the special duckpin tournament on Saturday night. George Stebbins, who wen first prize the previous week, did no compete. Kenyon won first prize with a total of Tast for three games.

Patrons of the Montauk alleys, Fulion street, Brooklyn, were treated to an interesting contest when Fred Walters of Brooklyn and C. W. Ryder of Chicago met for a series of match games. Starting at 9 o'clork Friday evening, the two bowlers rolled nineteen games without a stop, "time" being finally called at the hour for closing for the hight. Ou saturday night seven more games were bowled when Ryder's sore thumb compelled a halt. Each of these games was for $1 a side and consider able money was wagered by outsiders. Walters won a majority of the games.
